Score Card

Often, our lives resemble a game of chance. We do not expect the strange twists and turns thrown our way on our journey from childhood to adulthood, such as the changes high school brings, breaking up with a girlfriend or boyfriend, or taking the SAT. Still, it is only natural to want to fully monopolize life. With each new move we make and the transition that comes along with it, not only are we offered many opportunities in education, athletics, and extracurricular activities, but we become wise enough to take advantage of such opportunities. Throughout this, we must have the courage to throw the dice, be ready to take risks and be willing to face any obstacles thrown in our path. In addition to many challenges, life also gives us many good times. We must remember to enjoy these special moments, the moments that challenge us to go beyond our own expectations, guide us to draw the card that decides our fate, and binds us together with the common goal of living, loving, and caring for others. These are the moments we celebrate in these pages.

Some R and R The girls soccer team takes a break after an eventful game. Times like this gave players an opportunity to relax prepare for the next game.

BAM! Marilyn Sawyer concentrates on keeping the ball away from the other team. The girls had to use skillful maneuvering with their feet so the ball would not get stolen by the other team.

HARD KNOCK LIFE

Out of my way! Cole Kever maneuvers through the defense to gain a first down mark. Cole contributed a great deal with his quick thinking and his athletic abilities.

Lets go boys! Josh Adams pumps up the team spirit before the game. Getting psyched before each game helped the team prepare mentally for their opponent.

You can't catch me! With a great catch, Michael Slonaker beats the defense with his swift moves and outstanding speed. The team worked on such skills everyday at practice.

Free at last! Blake Mears breaks through the crowd to gain some extra yards on the play. Being aware of your defenders was essential to a successful play.

What was one of your pre-game rituals for this season?

Well, one of my pre-game rituals for this season was that I wore the same pair of boxers every game day. This was just something I tried for good luck.

-Junior Cole Kever

I'm not really big on rituals, but I do always put my right sock on before my left sock.

- Senior Brian Fransioli

HARDBALL

First and goal! Eighth grader Conor Bunn breaks through the defense to score a touchdown. The Cavs showed the Hornets that they were all business.

Pre-game pep talk. Coach Massey gives Matt Hickman some motivation before hitting the field. Good leadership was the key to winning the game.

Breaking free..... Wide-receiver Brandon Monroe is on his way for a much needed touchdown. Skill, speed, and determination helped win the game.

BRING IT ON

Hey, must be the money!!! The cheerleaders dance to Nelly's "Ride With Me" during the Homecoming pep rally. These girls learned many dances at their summer camp.

Coach and mother... Mrs. Gilbert, coach of the varsity cheerleaders, puts her baby down in the middle of practice. She divided her time between the baby and these girls.

Stand up!!! Sara Suchower shouts to the crowd to stand up and be proud. Cheerleaders were always trying new and different cheers to get the fans motivated at the game.

Hey Cavaliers!!! Wrenn Federlein and Leslie Jerkins yell to the crowd at a basketball game. During time-outs, the cheerleaders went out on the floor to pump up the fans.

Bannertime... Laura Stembidge paints banners after school to help promote school spirit. The varsity cheerleaders spent many hours working after school on these banners.

We're # 1! Mallory Jones and Shannon Heenan do a quick cheer during a time-out. Cheering helped the players to feel the support of their fans.

We've got spirit! The cheerleaders do a routine during a soccer game. Cheerleaders used signs to get the fans out of their seats.

A hard days work. The cheerleaders practice a dance routine for the next big game. Cheerleading was exhilarating for the mind and body.

The greatest accomplishment. Skyler Stull does a stunt during a pep rally. Cheering was creative, expressive, and involved a lot of work.

TAKE IT TO THE HOUSE

Defense wins the game! Brandt Orr shows his aggressive style of playing. Defensive skills played a huge role in the teams positive standing this season.

Tricky shot! Michael Slonaker flies towards the hoop hoping to add some points. MDS's offense put on a great show for the fans this season.

Out of my way! Carlton McMillan goes for a layup against his Windsor opponent. Carlton was an instrumental player in the seasons results.

Aim for the basket! Paul Elsbernd poises himself for a needed shot. Paul's skill shone brightly throughout the course of the season.

What a throw! Third baseman Rachel Azar throws the ball to home to get another out. Rachel's quick thinking and fast throws were very important in team defense.

Practice makes perfect. Third baseman Kristen Anglea works on her throw before a game. Kristen was brought over to the varsity team after Katie Hatcher's injury.

MAKIN' WAVES

What's my time? Sam Meadows looks up at the time clock to see if he has beaten his record. Swimmers were timed as soon as they left the block.

One more lap! Kaitlyn Stockslager comes up and out for the strenuous butterfly stroke. The Junior Varsity team only swam 50 yards in the fly.

Almost there! Burnes Brown speeds to the finish block. On relays, swimmers had to wait for the person ahead of them to touch the block before they could start.

Swimmers take your mark....go! Emily Smith dives off the starting block for a quick start. Swimmers had to wait for three whistles to know when to go.

Success never rests! Sam Meadows, Katie Wright, Bethany Dadisman, and Eric Roberts all hold plaques for their best times. MDS won more plaques than any other team at the state meet.

Got chlorine? Eric Roberts pulls in and breathes deeply for the breast stroke. Swimmers had to successfully swim 100 yards using this stroke.

Backstroke jump in! Katie Wright quickly prepares herself for the big race. Swimmers had to start in the water for this particular stroke.

Top row (l-r): Coach Mary Pat Dadisman, J. Dadisman, S. Meadows, A. Kaboshi, S. Sewell, K. Schuchmann, B. Mears, C. Booth, C. Jones, A. Lledle, Coach Karl Rutenber; Second row (l-r): S. Taking a break. Some track members take a break to talk about their times and find out what the next event will be. It was important to find out how all of the team did at the track meet.

Jump for joy. Bryan Weaver tries with all of his might to keep from hitting the pole in the midst of his high jump. High jump required the athletes to use their whole bodies to jump the pole.

Towards the finish line... Rachel Azar runs the last lap of her race at the track meet. Runners needed endurance to make it through all of the laps.

Over the top... Cole Keever demonstrates the art of making the perfect vault. Pole vaulting showed the strength and focus of the athlete.

Top Row (l-r): C. Jance, E. Hardison, C. Moskaly, A. Kabashi, K. Hardison, L. Melvin, L. Wood, S. DeLoach, K. Hodge, K. Marshall, K. Harris, M. Misinco, N. D'LaRotta, P. Slopaker, C. Keever, P. # RUN FOR IT

Flying Saucer! Quentin Bishop watches to see how far his discus will go. The suspense was high when waiting for results.

Prepare for landing. Nneka Nwosu steadies herself for landing on the triple jump. Nneka was a great contributor to the team's success.

1, 2, 3, jump! Erik Hardison prepares to make his first leap for the triple jump. This event was challenging and required great concentration.

Up, up, and away. Solomon Sewell gracefully leaps over the pole in the high jump. The meets were challenging especially in the scorching heat.

And he's off! Cole Kever anxiously takes off and prepares his strategy to win the race. The events were often times very close.

ON THE RUN

In between races. Amara Nwosu, Sara Johnson, and Allison Ducote' tell a few jokes to pass the time. A little fun was needed after a hard day's work.

And they're off... Katie Hatcher and Bethany Dadisman take an early lead at the start. Both track teams finished fifth in the GISA state tournament.

Our father who art in heaven... Coach Dotterer gets the team together to pray before the meet begins. Faith played a large role in preparing for a match.

Coming around the corner... Brian McBrearty tries to keep a commanding lead in the race. A strong will was a great advantage against a determined opponent.

Warming up. Josh Chafin stretches his muscles before a meet. In order for a wrestler to perform effectively, they had to be loose and limber.

WRESTLEMANIA

Pep talk. Coach Howe gives the team a pre-game pep talk. An encouraging word was a great way to get ready for a match.

And the winner is... The ref raises Alan Crowell's arm to show that he won the match. This win brought the team's record to 7-11.

Gotcha! Patrick Heenan pins down his opponent effortlessly during his match. Strength and concentration were major factors in wrestling.

GAME, SET, MATCH!

Make this one count! Colin Booth returns a serve during a practice match. Colin was a vital asset to the team and provided many important victories during competition.

Better get ready! Ben Mishra and Jason Spicer prepare for a serve in a doubles' match. The cooperative efforts between partners made the team a tough competitor in doubles competition.

It's out of sight. John Cacavias watches to see where the ball lands. Golfers had to follow through with their swings to ensure that the ball would not fall short.

HOLE IN ONE

A little tap will do. Seth Story putts in for a birdie to help the team take the lead. Putting was one of the more difficult strokes, requiring extreme concentration and accuracy.

Keep your eye on the ball. Drew Edwards tries to position the ball on the green so he will have a better shot of getting it in the hole. Golfers tried to achieve the lowest score under par.

THE DISCOVERY

Students enjoy exploring their environment.

Let the show begin. Virginia Sanders, Daniel Harris, and Ben Bollinger show off their acting skills in biology. Students performed a skit on drugs.

Be very careful. Jessica Asbell and Hillary Lipko work on a lab in chemistry class. Students loved hands-on experiments.

HAVE YOU HAD A COMPUTER "GONE CRAZY" EXPERIENCE?

My mom got kicked off of AOL because the computer said she sent 40,000 inappropriate e-mails out. My dad called and got it straightened out.
-Sara Suchower.

Kind of. One time I almost changed Ms. Timm's password. I had to go interrupt her class and tell her. But a couple days later Mr. Rule said everything had worked out OK.
-Jeremey Pohl.

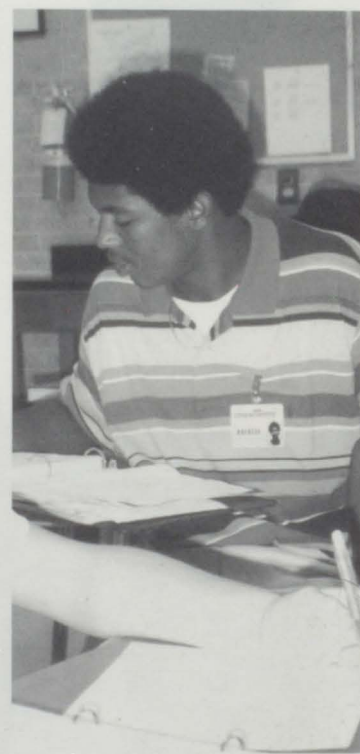

My keyboard always just stops working and I have to re-plug it in. It's really annoying.
-Reed Elsbernd.

Yes, my modem does not work. My brother got the blue screen of death.
-Chloe Spicer.

Yeah, my computer's printer ran out of ink when I was printing a biology paper due that morning and it came out green.
-Justin Channel.

Newton's law states... Nahshon Bigham works hard to understand his physical science worksheet. Students tried their best to make good grades.

This is amazing! Chemistry students watch as potassium and sugar burn. This demonstration smelled like burnt marshmallows.

Do you see it? Dr. Jimmy Cassidy shows Josh Pacosa how to read an x-ray. Dr. Cassidy came to teach osteology to the AP Biology class.

Can someone help? South-erly Appling tries to turn on the water. Students had to manage many types of lab equipment.

What's up with him? Sam Meadows watches as Mr. Mac performs an experiment. Students loved learning about chemistry.

The measurement is... Jesse Pilkenton holds the level as Whitney Glover and Alexis Scott read the measurement. This math activity helped students read slopes.

What number are you on? Ben Pierce assists Alicia Stramiello and Audra Orange on a math problem. Math is a subject that takes time to understand.

Can someone help? Laura Stanford looks toward the board to get help on a problem. Paying attention in class was important for students to excel in a subject.

Next subject... Sara Suchower and Jessica Robinson pull out a Spanish book during Trig after their work is done. Students often used the last part of a class to catch up on another subject.

M U L T I P L Y I N G     T H E     O D D S

Counting the Ways for Success

Yum...pizza and math? Matthew Moulton eats a slice of pizza while Brayden Ware busily works on his Math Day assignments. During this competition, students used their lunch to work on more problems.

On the edge... Kristie Herrick can barely stay seated because she knows the answer to a Math Day problem. Middle schoolers knew the importance of math in their lives.

Broadway in the classroom! Camille Dizon and Brandon Logue perform skits for their world history class. These skits were about old folktales from many foreign countries.

Keeping up. These sophomores jot down notes during a lecture. American history students marveled at Mr. Massey's comedic style of lecturing.

Like a treat? Jenna Schmitt gives Theresa Jurgensen Chinese food she made at home. Mr Smith allowed juniors to make food from other countries for extra credit.

Brain exercises. Alison Lizek checks over her geography worksheet for mistakes. Freshmen were required to take one semester of geography.

THROUGH THE YEARS

Having fun in History and Social Studies

Learning technologically. Kurt Hardison uses the I-book for research in his history class. The eighth grade classes wrote newspaper articles on the Underground Railroad.

Where in the world is... Jovon Braddy and Melissa Collins work on an in-class project together. They located the latitudes and longitudes of different places on the globe.

Hard at work. Adam Romine takes notes in Mr. Massey's American history class. Many teachers provided interesting information during classroom lectures.

Teamwork. Anna Stiff and Brandon Hughes work with their team in their economics class. The senior economics classes participated in the Georgia Stock Market Game for ten weeks.

GROWING...

Through the Scripture.

Learning religiously. While catching up on a religion assignment, Heather Hartley takes a break to chat with a friend. Religion classes were enjoyed by all of the students.

Sharing a meal. Chase Henderson reads aloud from Scripture. Students of Ms. Kirksey's religion classes spent the day enjoying a Seder meal.

Round and round they go. This group of students walks around a labyrinth. Students were challenged to focus on the center of their lives as they focused on reaching the center of the labyrinth.

A prayerful position. Matthew McCrory practices a meditation position in his religion class. Students enjoyed taking a break from classwork and participating in hands-on activities.

Watch the finger!! Brandon Monroe lights a candle for the Passover meal. Ms. Kirksey's class dealt with the many practices of both modern and ancient religion.

What do I do with these rocks? Sara Suchower and Brad Smith enjoy a period of thoughtful meditation. Mr. Wasdin's religion class explored many religions first hand.

Hmmmm... Drew Edwards and Ben Smith connect spiritually with mind, body, and soul. Yoga served as a doorway to calm and relaxing thoughts.

Passover celebrates... Mills Misinco reads from an informative printout on the Seder Meal. Breaking of the bread united the students and enlightened their minds.

STOP, DROP, AND READ

Students are on fire for English

Writing away. Anna Kate Kallay works diligently on her paper. All English students were assigned various writing projects throughout the year.

Bookworm. Jennifer Oliver pays close attention to the story in fear of a reading check. Many teachers were known to give pop quizzes to see if students had done their work.

Computer companions. Chelsea Bunn and Kellye Lewis work together on their English project. Students were glad to be able to use computers to find useful information for their papers.

Accelerated learning. David Krapf takes his Accelerated Reader test. The 7th, 8th, and 9th graders were required to read certain books and then take tests over the material.

A helping hand. Brian Fransioli and Nick Ewing work together on a senior English project. Students researched information about the time period covering the selection they had read in class.

Listen up! Valkyrie Anderson shows the junior AP English class a picture for a project. Students found a piece of music and art that represented the selection they read.

Busy as a bee. Sarah Burch searches for information for her paper on the internet. The English Department required students at every grade level to write research papers.

Extra Help. Mr. Kemp helps Megan Harned on her Accelerated Reading PowerPoint project. The middle school students took time out of each day to read their AR books in class.

Estudian. Cari Quillian and Adam Fyke study diligently during Spanish class. Since Spanish is not most students' first language, they had to study hard to keep up with work.

Working together. The French visitors, along with some of our MDS students act out the musical "Westside Story." This musical was unique because of the cultural mix, making it a pleasure to watch.

Watch out! Paul Elsbernd beats Sarah Dessart with a pillow during movie night. Along with being educational, this evening was an enjoyable one for the students.

A time to remember. Welton Harris decorates the board with his reaction to September 11th. Expressing their thoughts helped the French students deal with the attacks.

AROUND THE WORLD

Exploring the different cultures of the world

Your turn. Jessica Asbell and Rachael Amporful recite a poem in their French class. Many hours of practice added to a fluent presentation.

Yummy rewards. Jennifer Oliver explains the meaning behind her bûche de Noël, a famous Christmas dessert. The French III students enjoyed her presentation as well as the rewards.

Lets eat. Junior Hillary Lipko enjoys refreshments during French movie night. Watching a movie was one of the ways the students celebrated French Honor Week.

What does this mean? Jennifer Lidstone and Sarah Dessart look up their French words to try to figure out the meaning of a poem. Because of their teamwork, they cut their study time in half.

Good advice... Amy Laughter gives some great advice to Sarah DeLoach. During art class, students gave each other constructive criticism to help improve their work.

Who says art isn't fun? Terence Heenan and Rachel Azar laugh and joke around while completing their newest art assignment. Art has always been a fun and interesting class.

Understanding art... Jeremy Pohl focuses on his art assignment. Art students have to use their time wisely and participate to achieve the quality that they desire.

PICTURE PERFECT

The Fine Artists of Mount de Sales

Busy bees... Kelly Hutto and Haley Crawford are busy sketching pictures in Mrs. Mead's art class. Art students needed to be able to spend much time on their art work.

Outside light can make it right... Anna Stiff enjoys working outside in natural light to get the best shadowing on her sketches. Students enjoyed working in different areas around the campus.

And the winner is... Courtney Crosby ponders over her choice for the People's Choice Award. All students, by casting their votes, were able to participate in this annual event.

Who says cats can't draw? Kimberly Rockmore wants to sketch the "purrfect" picture. Art students have always been eager to put forth their best effort.

Peace, love, and rock & roll. Daniel Harrison listens as Blair Wright plays around on the guitar. The guitar was sometimes used in band and chorus performances.

We got spirit! The MDS band warms up for a pep rally in the gym. It was the band's job to join in getting the crowd loud and excited.

Blowing with the wind. Charlie Oxley plays her saxophone in the MDS marching band. The band, led by Mr. Tyner, was a regular feature at the football games.

Moving to the groove. The chorus acts out and sings the "Circle of Life" in Lions, Beasts and Phantoms. This was the first year that the Spring Sing included dancing and acting.

THE BEAT GOES ON!

A time to show off talents and abilities.

Look and learn. Jessica Wyche directs the band during a half-time performance. Halftime was an opportunity for fans to eat as well as listen to the band play.

For whom the bell tolls. Christine Lopapa and Lauren Patch practice the hand bells during chorus class. They were anticipating the annual Christmas concert.

A classical rhythm. Kristen Salinas shows off her dancing ability during the performance of the Phantom of the Opera. The dancing added a touch of class to the act.

Cherry Blossom time! The concert band performs during an event sponsored by the Cherry Blossom Festival. Mayor C. Jack Ellis was one of the many prestigious guests.

The life of a nun! Kimberly Kelsey and Winslow Rumph cut loose. "Nunsense" gave the audience a humorous view of life in a convent.

Take us to the stage! Mr. Freeman directs the cast members on how a scene should be enacted. Good leadership was needed to make a good performance.

Ain't it great to be a nun! Nitra Brown and Sarah Burch sing a duet about their lives as nuns. The play won second place at region and fourth place at state.

When's the encore? Catherine Harris and Kurt Nieser play Adam and Eve in "The Company of Wayward Saints." Eve showed the audience how easily Adam was persuaded to eat the apple.

GET YOUR ACT TOGETHER

Presenting Hollywood's Future Stars...

Bravo! Allison Ducote shows that nunnery is not all seriousness and there is time for fun. She does a dance for the fundraiser put on to bury another sister.

Ha-ha-ha. Karen Marshall and John Michael Cunard make fun of another character in "The Company of Wayward Saints." The play received great reviews for its humorous scenes.

Where did she get her training? Leslie Jerkins shows the struggles of her character's life. "Beauty and the Beast" was a great success for the troubadors.

This deserves an award. Cast members show off their acting talent in "Beauty and the Beast." They put in a lot of strenuous time and work to present the play on stage.

PUTTING IT TOGETHER

MDS Memory Makers

Hard at work. Senior Skyler Stull concentrates on cropping her pictures. She knew she had to get them perfect to meet Mrs. Brown's high expectations.

Find those errors! Audra Orange scans her page for misprints. She needed to get this done in order to meet the upcoming deadline.

New project. Autumn Etheridge looks over her new assignment. She contemplated from which angle she could approach her latest page.

Checking it twice. Senior Naseem Duvall takes one last look over her page. She wanted to make sure it was perfect for the final submission.

PLAYING THE GAME

Fun Physical Times

Up, down. Erin Misch nonchalantly does her routine push-ups in P.E. Students started their class every day with warm-up exercises.

Look at me! Keith Manley playfully begins his class with some calisthenics. All P.E. students were excited about the opportunity to leave the classroom and release some energy.

Hide and seek. Natalie Martinez crawls under the bleachers to chase after the ball. Not only did she beat the others to it, she helped keep an exciting volleyball game going.

Tired yet? John Staggs, Jack Thomas and Caleb Rule take their laps around the gym. They were in great shape after a semester of P.E.

Big balla! George Williams shows off his mad basketball skills. The other P.E. students were impressed by his Harlem Globtrotter-like tricks.

THINKING ALOUD

Literally Speaking

MdS at its best. The literary team shows off smiling faces along with eleven trophies. The competitions consisted of essays, oral presentations, and music.

Speaking out. John Michael Cunard participates in oral interpretation. Oral interpretation gave readers the opportunity to get into one of the novel's characters.

From cover to cover. Catherine Harris reads a portion of "Huck Finn" during high school literary. These readings were done in front of judges to insure success.

Putting it into words. Camille Dizon reads over her essay before turning it in. Camille represented her junior class well during the personal essay competition.

Reading writing arithmetic. Amanda Perofsky ponders over her work. Her participation in the argumentative essay contest gave her a chance to express her personal opinion.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT!

Have you had your brainfood today?

Winning feels so great! The debate team took home runner up in region competition. Joseph Irwin, second from left, wiped out his opponents and won the speaker award.

I can't believe he said that! Joseph Irwin and Mike Madison secretly strategize their next move in the upcoming debate. Being on the debate team required time after school.

Back to the old drawing board! Dustin Neiser gathers all his evidence in order to support his topic. Thorough preparation was essential for the Debate team's success.

Are you ready to be left behind? Mike Madison and Jenika Cooper prepare to duel during another round of questions. Some students participated after school but never went to competition.

Bzzz... Who is George Washington? Mike Madison, Dustin Neiser, and Burns Brown listen attentively for the next question. Everyone learned to answer quickly before their opponent had a chance.

Lighting the way. John Wright, Sara Suchower, and Megan Sightler participate in the candle lighting during Spanish Honor Society inductions. Candle-lighting was a special part of inductions for the students.

Mmm...Good! Kris Ivey enjoys refreshments after the National Honor Society inductions. Students enjoyed the time they got to spend after inductions talking with friends.

IT'S AN HONOR

Students are honored to be honored

Words of Wisdom. Jonathon Koetter explains the requirements of a National Honor Society member. Inductees listened attentively to the roles they must fulfill.

Culturally aware. Valkyrie Anderson speaks during the French Honor Society inductions. Students were honored when teachers asked them to participate in the inductions.

Signature of success. Bethany Dadisman signs the National Honor Society membership book. Inducted members were proud to have their name amongst the most recognized in the school.

French Honor Society Inductees (l-r): Jessica Asbell, Camille Dizon, Jennifer Oliver, Theresa Jurgensen, Valkyrie Anderson, Sarah Dessart

Leaders of the Pack

Inspirational role models of our generation

Grrrr! Mr. Freeman shows Mark Misinco the wonders of learning Demonstrations were useful ways to help students grasp the laws of science.

Do a little dancel Coach Kemp and Mr. Howe show off at the middle school retreat. Letting loose and having fun were very important in class bonding.

Mmm good! Mrs. Hatcher and Mrs. Nixon take a break from the Middle School retreat. Teachers enjoyed socializing during their free time.

I think I got it! Mr. Freeman helps Cole Miller understand the material. One-on-one study sessions helped build teacher-student relationships.

Almost There !

Class of 2003

Fun in the sun! Haley Huckabee and Karen Marshall have a couple of laughs at lunch. When bored, students have always been creative.

Go! Fight! Win! Martha McKay and Camille Dizon show their school spirit at the pep rally. Students here had the best school pride.

Help to the rescue! Akeem Ramsay helps Soloman Sewell with his homework. Students have always lended a helping hand.

Remembering the good times. Jenna Schmitt and Seth Story sign each others' yearbooks. Students had fond memories of their past experiences.

What is your favorite

"My favorite childhood memory was when my dad and I went golfing." - Jennifer Oliver

Meet my new friend! Brittany Hartley shows her spirit during Homecoming week. Students enjoyed the jungle theme.

Getting Closer

Class of 2003

Laugh out loud. Katie Hatcher and Cole Keever joke about the events of the day. Friendships were built simply by spending time together.

Fun in the sun. Sam Meadows enjoys reading a book outside. Students liked reading materials other than school work.

Nature calls. Jennifer Fordham eats outside during her lunch period. Students considered time outside a privilege after being indoors all day.

Less talk, more action. Christi Grizzard finishes her lunch right before the bell. Students cut out the chit chat and ate quickly since they only had 25 minutes.

Kickin' back. Resting her feet, Nneka Nwosu prepares for a test. With lots of work, it was important that students were comfy in their study environment.

Math attack. Haley Huckabee watches Steven Anglea use a calculator to work a math problem. When practiced, math became easier.

surviving the final retreat

Just chillin'... Matthew Burns, Brian McBrearty, and Alan Crowell hang out while their group looks for more clues. The clues were hidden all around the Girl Scout camp.

Finding the clues... Hamilton Hardison and Lea Hattaway try to figure out the clues needed to win the tribal challenge. All seniors wanted to win the tribal prize... CANDY!

Naptime... Andy Arena, Kimberly Kelsey, and Andrea Briggs take a quick nap during the retreat. No one would ever imagine all the hard work the seniors went through during the retreat.

Are you ready? Katie Leverett and Brandt Orr are excited and ready to play the tennis ball game. The game made seniors think of creative alternatives of passing the ball around.

Tribal storytelling... Jason Glow explains who the Canadian Zogers are. Each senior tribe was required to tell a creative legend on how their tribe acquired their name.

"We'd go a long way for a Nu-way!" These seniors enjoyed their hot dogs, hamburgers, and of course flaky ice. They have always looked forward to Nu-way being served.

Pucker up!!! Audra Orange and Carolann Curry show some affection toward their "animal" friend. Seniors have been known to let loose and act silly at the retreat.

Tying knots can be tricky! Jeff Dadisman desperately tries to tie tribal decorations onto Cole Miller's arm. Seniors showed tribal spirit by coloring and tying cloth onto each other.

The game plan... Nick Dermatas and Carlton McMillan talk about their strategy to win the games. These senior boys knew what it would take to win at the retreat.

The Mask!!! Katie Fennell holds up a mask explaining her tribe's name. Seniors took part in many activities that brought the class together as one.

"My favorite part about the senior retreat was the games we played with each other. They really made me happy. And Nu-Way was really good. YAY!!"

Megan Hickman

"It was fun running around looking for small pieces of paper [clues]. I think it was great that our class was able to set aside differences for one day and come together as one."

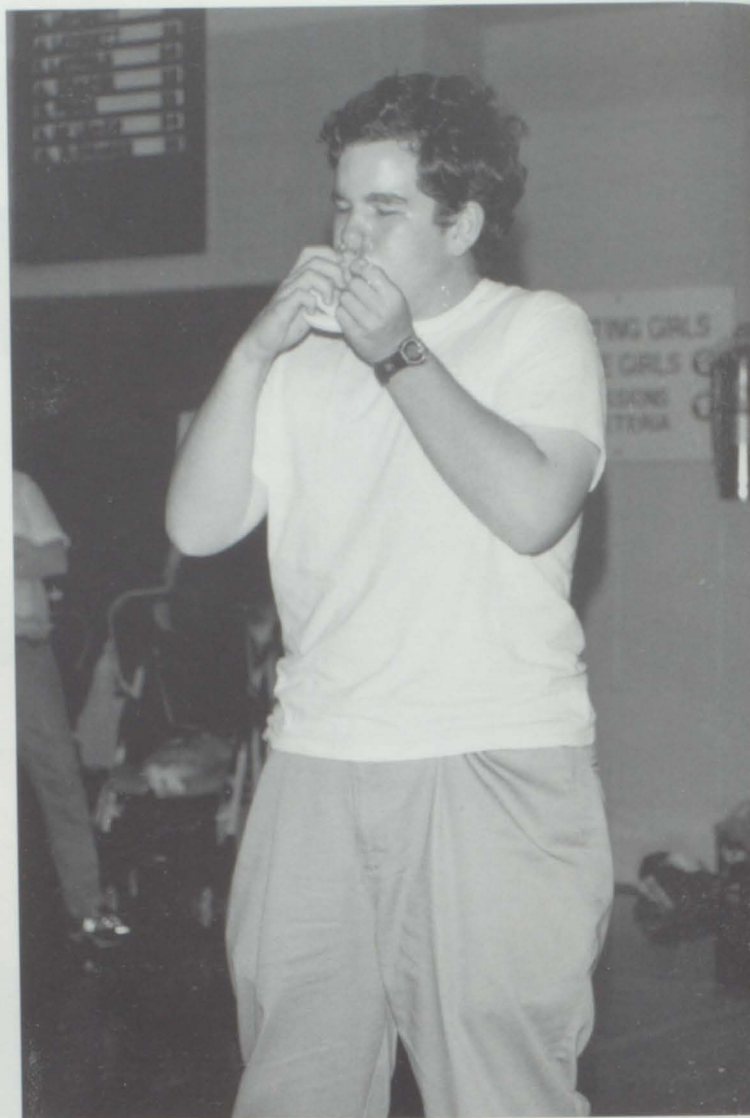

Allen Stroupe

Welcome to the Jungle! Seniors gather in the gym, decked out in Nu-way hats, to cheer at the Homecoming pep rally. The pep rally pumped up the football team for a great game against Westfield.

Monkeying Around. Josh Pacosa skillfully works to finish his banana in the Banana-Eating contest on Skit Night. A senior tradition has always been to participate in activities and be spirited.

All webbed up. Hamilton Hardison shows his creativity in a spider costume for dress-up day. Seniors participated since it was their last chance of their high school days to go crazy.

Me Tarzan, you Homecoming Court. Matthew Burns and Cole Miller act in the lively skit to introduce the Homecoming Court. The senior boys' skit traditionally kicked off Homecoming week.

fun

Homecoming 2001

in the jungle

Walking may be difficult! Amy Laughter decides that it is easier to walk in regular clothes. Practicing in costumes was a good way for Seniors to take a comfortable stroll around the gym.

Light

Celebrating Christ's Love

of the world

It only takes a spark. Nick D'LaRotta serves as a candle bearer. Many members of the Senior Class participated in this memorable service.

Ringling in the spirit. Handbells ringers play favorite Christmas melodies during the service. The bells were a beautiful way to ring in the Christmas season.

Lighting the way. Mike Madison and Burnes Brown light the altar candles. These candles symbolized the light of Christ's Spirit in us.

Voices of leaders. Kris Ivey and Laura Wood take part in reading passages of Scripture. The beautiful words set the tone for this special ceremony.

Alleluia. Cantor Kelly Hutto leads the congregation in a song of praise. "The Magnificat" added a special touch to this wonderful event.

A few good men. This group of boys anxiously awaits the time when they will officially be seniors. The Moving Up Ceremony was special to all who attended it.

Beginning of the end

The Final Year

Let us pray. L'Neisha Leslie leads a prayer at this service. Students were excited to begin their final year by taking part in this tradition.

The Body of Christ. Anna Stiff takes holy communion from Mrs. Kersey. Celebrating Mass on Moving Up Day made it a meaningful service.

In the name of the Father. Hamilton Hardison receives a special blessing from Father Cuddy. The new seniors saw this as a very sacred time.

Make a joyful noise. Courtney Edington leads the school during worship at this service. She was one of the new chorus leaders for the upcoming year.

mentions of honor

The Honors Assembly gives awards to Seniors.

Abanner day. James Taylor receives a certificate for putting up the flag for the year. This was one of the many ways that students showed their patriotism and served the school.

Another award! Mr. Midkiff pins the Sadie Niningger award onto Laura Wood's gown. The award was the highest Key Club award that the school could bestow upon a student.

Oh, to be an artist. These five students receive an art appreciation award for all the hard work they did during the year. The school benefited greatly from their talents.

Cool cord. Brian Fransioli receives his honor cord. Seniors who received the honor cord had to have taken two honors classes their senior year with a cumulative average of 90 or above.

Good luck in your future musical endeavors! Amy Faircloth receives a hug and a certificate from Mr. Tyner for her participation in band. Her leadership contributed to the school's musical classes.

destination: orlando

My question is Jenika Cooper uses the clues given to her at Seuth's Mystery Dinner Theater to guess the murderer in the performance. The theater requested the participation of the audience.

Seniors take their last trip together.

I am so hungry! Clifford Jance hungrily eats his breakfast at McDonald's before a long day at Universal Studios. Eating was a favorite pastime for everyone on the trip.

What did he say? Chris Putman and Lea Hattaway have different reactions to a character in the play at the dinner theater. The characters were interesting and funny throughout the performance.

Only five more hours to go! These students quickly eat their lunches on the road to Orlando. Making stops at gas stations and rest stops gave the students time stretch on the long ride.

Oh, where oh where do we go next? Josh Chafin looks at a map of Universal Studios to decide where he wants to go to first. By planning their day, seniors made sure they saw all the attractions.

One last Mass

Baccalaureate 2002

Showing gratitude for many blessings
Jenika Cooper thanks Sister Rosina for all she does for the senior class. The class of 2002 was also saying goodbye to her as well as each other.

Leaving one phase to start another. The senior class processes out of the church at the completion of the church service. The mass was held at St. Josephs Catholic Church.

Recognizing excellence. Carolann Curry and Katie Coates stand to be recognized by their family and friends. Seniors were asked to bring all medals and honors with them as well.

A moment in time. Sarah Harmon and Whitney Misch take a picture together after the mass. This was one of the many special events that seniors will have to look back on in the future.

Leaving a legacy. Father Cuddy receives a yearbook along with many other items at Baccalaureate. Dustin Fordham was one of many seniors that presented gifts to be left behind.

day

The first of the rest of your life

The day has finally arrived! Kendall Dreslin moves her tassel to signify that she has just graduated. Many seniors had been looking forward to this moment for a long time.

Smile, your day has come! Sarah Burch and Maria Rouse smile for the camera before the graduation. Many seniors felt nervous and excited at the same time about the prospect of leaving high school.

Are we ready to go? Craig George waits for the ceremony to begin. The seniors had to get in lines of two for the procession march into the Macon auditorium.

Thank you. Andy Arena accepts his diploma from Sister Rosina before crossing the stage. Sister Rosina congratulated each student with a smile when they came on the stage.

We'll miss you! Katie and Jennifer Leverett hug Father Tim goodbye. Each senior had mentors that helped them along their journey to complete their secondary education.

sensational seniors

Seniors at their best

Gulp, gulp, gulp. Nick Dermatas and Lydia Sewell look at the menu at Jennoely's as they drink their Dasani's. Jennoely's was a popular off-campus eatery for the seniors.

Watch out! Andy Arena aims a rubberband at the camera as Michael Grimsley, Kevin Motovu, and John Cacavas look on. They were determined to make this an interesting picture.

What could it be? Karen Hodge finds a present from her Secret Santa. She hoped it was bunches of chocolate and candy that she could munch throughout the day.

Hey man! Andrew Liedle, Nick Ewing, and Andy Graycheck look back on their soccer game the previous day. Although they won, they discussed what they could do to improve next game.

Ummm. Josh Pacosa takes a break during A.P. Physics to let the information he learned that day sink in. These A.P. students needed this break on a regular basis to absorb as much as possible.

Flashback

Mrs. Bentley's 7th grade math class was asked to share anything about themselves on their first day of school. This is what they had to say:

"Sometimes I feel like I live for basketball. I like math. I enjoy basketball."

- Christina Price

"I'm glad to be here. I have a dog named Juliett and I think that's a neat name. Mrs. Bentley you wear cute clothes and you're a pretty person. Thanks for teaching"

- Shelby Smith

"I can't tell you anything because I'm working undercover."

- Jeff Dadisman

How do I work this thing? Mike Lopapa helps Tala Katner figure out how to work the camera. They needed to fix it order to get good pictures to put in their senior memories book.

Show it off! Audra Orange shows off her mad kick the can skills. This was a popular game played by students during their free periods.

Kick it! Chris Putnam keeps the play alive by making a sweet move to help the can stay in the air. This group of seniors perfected their skills at kick the can by the end of the year.

Chillin. Brian Fransioli relaxes during his free period out in the trapezoid while eating ice cream. He thoroughly enjoyed this break in his day to release all the anxieties of school.

5. The cheerleaders at MDS are very _____.

Student Life

Crossword

Pride Time

It's the Roller Coaster! Hamilton Hardison demonstrates the way to ride the Senior Coaster at a pep rally. Student participation in the events showed support for their fellow Cavaliers.

Time to caravan! Lea Hattaway decorates her car for the annual caravan. The caravan was just one of the many ways students could show their school spirit.

Blow you away! The band shows off their musical talent during the first half of the basketball game. The band helped keep the crowd and its fans pumped up during the game.

Do a little dance. Theresa Jurgensen and Kristin Taylor show their spirit by dancing to the basketball team's warm-up music. The music got the crowd involved and the team pumped up.

What is your favorite cheer or dance done by the cheerleaders?

Lindsey Williams

I like when the cheerleaders dance to the band playing "Dynamite." I like to dance along with them.

John David Pinkston

"Victory," because there is so much power in the cheer.

And the crowd goes wild. During the pep rally the eighth grade goes wild for the teams. Pep rallies were a perfect way for students to let out excess energy.

Over and under. The boy's soccer team participates in a contest. Activities such as these were used to get the athletes in a competitive spirit.

Retreat

or

Trick

How did this youngster make it to the other side? Cruz Salinas crosses over a net with the help of fellow classmates. Such activities emphasized the importance of teamwork.

A sign of peace. Vinni Cavaliere and David Bushey shake hands with classmates during the prayer service. Unity as a class was the most important goal of the retreat.

Gather together. All eyes are on Caroline Freliche as her class prepares to sing during the prayer service. A song signaled that the retreat day was coming to an end.

We all fall down. These energetic seventh graders collapse while trying to become untangled from a "human knot." Retreat proved to be both a spiritual and fun event.

Mic check, one, two, one, two. Freshman A.J. Son reads during the prayer service. Students willingly participated in the many activities offered throughout the day.

Sit back, relax, and enjoy the show. Mallory Jones' attention is captured by an amazing sight. Students were given a chance to think and relax in the peaceful atmosphere.

Join hands. Akeem Ramsey is connected to other classmates in a "human knot." Participants like Tyler Cook (left) helped in the team effort to become disconnected.

What's so funny? Betsy Pittard and Natalie Martinez share a laugh with a friend. Bonds between friends, old and new, were strengthened at the retreat.

Welcome to the Jungle

Shake it! Robert Wooley shows his moves during the junior classes' performance of "Guitarzan" on skit night. Robert helped lead his class in this year's spirit contest.

Born to be wild! Nahshon Bigham rises above his freshmen classmates in a performance of "Bungle in the Jungle." Parents and students came for the skits and bonfire.

Meowl Katherine Snow prowls around the gym on dress up day. She was one of many students who used their creativity to come up with outrageous costumes.

I wish... Andy Arena jumps at the opportunity to wear a queen candidate's crown. Erin Coleman was honored to receive a homecoming nomination.

"Noel Murray was the best dressed because he is from Bonaire. His lack of soccer gear really brought out his fabulous blue eyes."

- Jeff Dadisman

Noel Murray

"Rachel Azar had a very simple, but classy outfit that really looked great on her."

- Frances Layfield

Rachel Azar

Best Dressed: Homecoming 2001

Snip, snip! Jesse Pilkenton and Bethany Dadisman cut out leaves for homecoming decorations. Students came together after school to turn MDS into a jungle.

Cheers! Solomon Sewell and Bekah Stiff show their spirit during the homecoming pep rally. The students' support motivated the players to victory at the big game.

MDS Jungle 2001

Reaching for new heights. Senior James Taylor's height comes in handy while making the waterfall for homecoming decorations. He had the best qualifications for the job.

Lions, tigers, and bears, oh my! Greg Flaherty, Brittany Hudson, and Derek Hattaway take their infamous walk around the gym. They enjoyed showing off their costumes on dress up day.

Call of the wild. Kyle Schuchmann and Brian Mears innocently play around during the dress up competition. They wanted to make people laugh and look good while doing it.

Rock & roll. After his Beastie Boys performance, Allen Stroupe tries to get Josh Pacosa pumped up for his banana eating contest. They worked hard to add points to the seniors' final.

King of the night. Chase Henderson holds up Eric Hardison, a.k.a. "Simba." He sang "I just can't wait to be king" during the lip sync competitions.

Guess who? Eighth grader Jenna Murphy strikes a pose for the camera. She decided to transform her entire appearance during homecoming week.

Class spirit. Seventh graders anxiously look on during the game day pep rally. They hoped to have the most school spirit in their first MDS homecoming competition.

Creative juices. To prepare for the pep rally, Sam Meadows and Martha McKay fill cans and bottles with rocks. They were determined to make their class the loudest.

The Halls Deck

For me? Alex Wright opens a present given to her by a secret Santa. The Kris Kringle project encouraged the spirit of giving among classmates.

Spread Christmas cheer. Geoff Walker watches as Rachael Smith opens a gift in homeroom. This helped her to start the day on a happy note.

Candy cane fight. Brian Mears and Robert Wooley imagine they are sword fighters. This helped time to pass quickly while student council decorated the campus.

Skip to the lou. Dressed as a sailor from the Village People, Mr. Midkiff amuses the audience at the Christmas program. The teachers felt the joy of the season.

Can I help you? Bethany Dadisman helps a student at the Kris Kringle shop. Students used the store to purchase inexpensive presents for their friends.

A silver lining Student council member Theresa Jurgensen keeps her commitment to decorate the campus. Decorations provided a blissful atmosphere around the school.

What did Santa bring you? Coach Slocum peeks at everyone's gift in the teacher's lounge. Teachers gladly participated in the school's Christmas activities.

What a gift! Mike Madison expresses approval of the gift he received. Through their giving, students showed that they knew the true meaning of Christmas.

Taking A Break

Always Coca-Cola! Emily Dessem enjoys a diet coke during her free period. Caffeine gave students a needed energy boost to get through their classes.

Yum yum! John Michael Cunard looks longingly at Matthew McCrory's chocolate muffin. Chocolate chip muffins were a favorite among students during lunch.

Watch this! This group of guys plays kick the can during free period. These games always provided free entertainment for people hanging out in the trapezoid.

Taking a time out for lunch. Ryland Rumph enjoys his break away from classes to eat lunch. Having a full stomach encouraged students to do well in all of their studies.

During parent lunches, what is the most common food that your parents or others bring to you?

"Nu-way: 2 dogs and 2 chili-cheese burgers (no onions)."
-Jimmy Cassidy

"I always ask my mom to bring Wendy's because I love their chicken sandwiches."
-Anna Kate Kallay

Killin' time. Sitting on the benches in the trapezoid, students enjoy their free period. Free time often allowed students to have one last chance to review their notes before a test.

Stadium seating. The Lewis family sits on the bleachers eating lunch. The Mercy Day parent lunch was moved inside the gym due to rainy weather.

Welcome to the play! Brittany Grant waits for her turn to usher people into the Nutcracker. Being an usher was a Key Club activity that offered yet another way to serve Macon.

Greetings from Hallmark Key Club members put together cards for the Nazareth Home. While some activities were not directly involved in the community, all activities were service-oriented.

That will be two dollars, please. Brandon Logue sells Chik-fill-a chicken biscuits to the students before school. The biscuits were a treat for students who forgot breakfast.

Do you need help? Leslie Jerkins helps kids at St. Joseph with their artwork. Helping children was a valuable experience for students.

A friendly conversation! Erica Zanghi chats with a resident at St. Paul's Apartments. Such deeds were part of service commitments that Builder's Club members upheld.

Now in session. Mr. Coates briefly tells the Key Club of upcoming events during an activity period. Key Club encouraged students to get involved in community services.

The perfect thing for a hot day! Chris Jones and Jonathan Koetter serve up some snow cones at Sister Rosina's retirement celebration. Everyone there appreciated the cool snacks.

Welcome! Billy Schwab welcomes visitors to the retirement celebration. Those who came could sign a guestbook and offer their well wishes to Sister Rosina.

Now let's go the gym! David Bushey answers questions for a prospective parent. The Cavalier Ambassadors took time out of their day to help represent the school.

And if you look over here... John Cacavias gives a group of people a tour of the school during open house. Many visitors were impressed with the state banners that were displayed in the gym.

How did I get talked into this ??? Tyler McLaurin stands in the fruit truck pondering how he will ever be able to unload all of the oranges. Volunteers were appreciated for this fruit sale distribution.

Magazine mania... Christine Lopapa turns in a magazine order form to Mr. Davis. The magazine sale always raised a good amount of money for the Athletic and Literary Association.

Helping hands... A group of high school students take a short break before they get back to work. The volunteers helped unload and load the fruit into cars.

Load 'em up!!! Jason Glow volunteers to load cokes into an MDS family's car. The coke sale always offered a great assortment of beverages that the whole family could agree upon.

Raising The Bar

A Prayerful Mood

Bow your heads in prayer. Sr. Geraldine introduces the theme of Catholic Schools Week to the students. The theme was, "Where Faith and Knowledge Meet."

Parent lunches are fun! Billy Schwab enjoys a sandwich from Baldino's on Parent Lunch Day. It has always been a special treat for students to enjoy lunch with their parents on special occasions.

We appreciate Sr. Rosina! Joseph Irwin thanks Sr. Rosina for her dedication to MDS. As a display of appreciation, different student groups gave her restaurant gift certificates.

Faith in motion. This group of dancers performs an interpretive dance for the student body during the prayer service. Mr. Freeman read a story aloud while the dancers acted it out.

Welcome Back! The Sizemores, class of 1993, discuss what a Catholic education has done for them. Their speech made the students appreciate their teachers more.

A Yummy dessert. Rachael Conn enjoys a doughnut after the prayer service in the gym. The tasty treat was a nice surprise for the students.

Waiting our turn. The line of sophomores wait patiently to throw their rocks in the pool. This activity was actively participated in and was done in a quiet, prayerful mood.

Watch the ripples. A group of freshmen boys watches as they throw their rocks in the pool of water. This demonstrated that our actions have a ripple effect on others.

Coming Together

Remember that you are dust... Mr. Smith marks Michael Hughes with ashes on Ash Wednesday. The ashes reminded the students that they were beginning the season of Lent.

The body of Christ... Father Brett Brannen presents Alex Heath with Holy Communion. The masses gave students a chance to show their love for God and for one another.

Whatever you do, don't trip! Brian Fransioli and Jonathan Koetter bring an offering to the altar at a mass. The offerings were presented to ask for God's blessing.

Hard work really does pay off! Mrs. Tate hands Lauren Westfall an award at an academic recognition assembly. These assemblies allowed students to be rewarded for their diligent work.

Clowning around. Michael Hughes amuses everyone by wearing a multi-colored clown wig. This was only one of the things that made him stand out during games.

All for one and one for all. The SODIVAS gather together in a huddle to prepare for the game. This was a routine that may have contributed to their 4-0 record.

Batter up! Charlie Cassidy of the Habaneros, hits a grounder hoping to lead his team to victory. All the teams were required to play everyone in their division.

I'm open! Audra Orange, a member of the Hollaratcha, tags Mrs. Lockhart at second base. The faculty team was defeated in the final game with a score of 5-2.

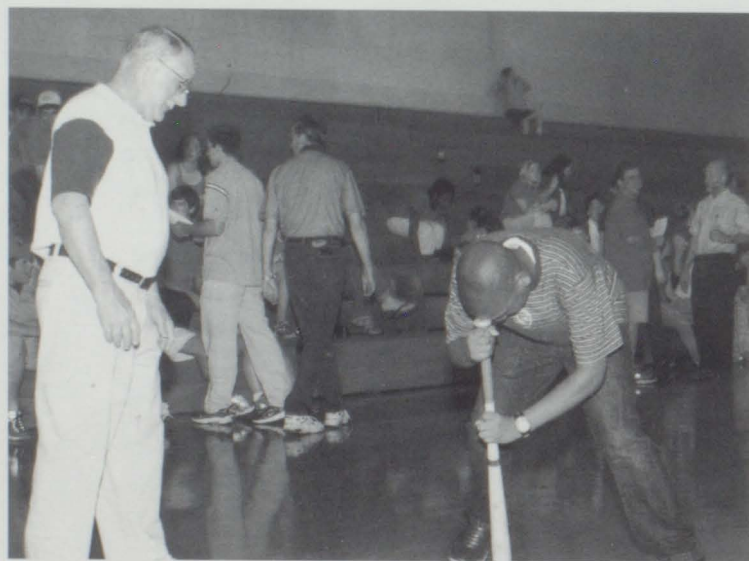

Take it to the top. Students from the eighth grade class participate in a human-pyramid building contest. Coach Slocum timed each grade to declare a winner based on speed.

Going for the gold. Brian Mears runs with all his might as he tries to be first to reach the buzzer. Students played to win in order to prove the superiority of their class.

Whatever it takes. Patrick Heenan slides to buzz in during a game of "Movie Trivia." In addition to his effective strategy, he was the only contestant to give a correct answer.

Guys...pull! Jon Lewis and fellow eleventh graders compete in tug-of-war. Working together as a team was a great way to show class spirit.

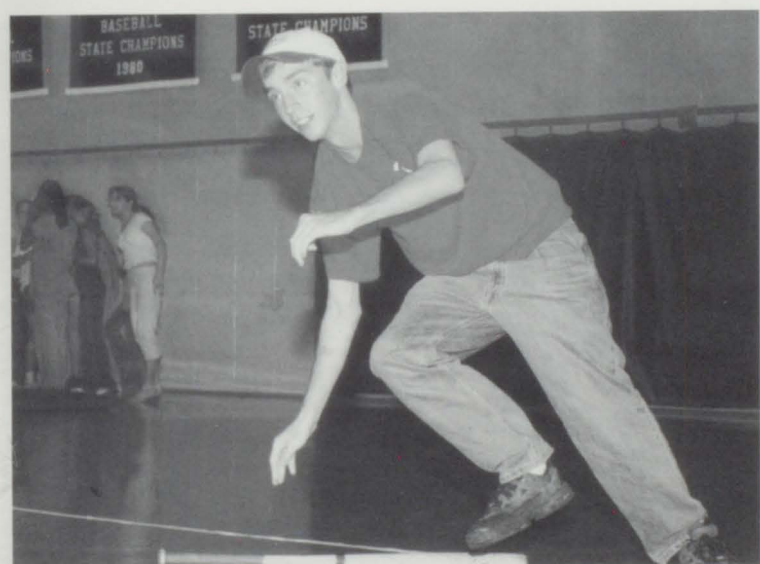

'Round and 'round he goes. Justin Andrews spins his head on a baseball bat during "Dizzy Izzy." Onlookers like Mr. Howe were amused by the effects of dizziness on the participants.

Strike! Katie Fennell knocks down the pins during "Human Bowling." This game was a creative addition that Student Council thought would make Fun Night more enjoyable.

The world is spinning. Mike Madison tries to keep his balance during "Dizzy Izzy." Combined with this, he had to run to the opposite end of the gym and bust a balloon by sitting on it.

Almost got 'em. Hamilton Hardison struggles to win during tug-of-war. He provided strength and leadership that led his team to a victory over the opponents.

Battle of the Classes

I'm almost there! Candice Dupree pulls herself up and presses the final button, signaling the end of her climb. Students tried to prove their toughness by climbing "the wall."

Woooo...! Christina Price repells down the climbing wall after a successful attempt. The wall challenged all students to prove their physical abilities.

Crush the ball! Welton Harris boots the ball during a rousing game of kickball. The kickball games were certainly the main attraction of the day.

Bump, set, spike. Andy Arena sets one of his team members up for a volley. Happy Fun Day gave the students an opportunity to work together as well as enjoy themselves.

Thank me later...! Mr. Mac helps a student get ready for a jousting match. Both students and teachers alike had a good time at HappyFun Day.

Perfect aim. Allen Stroupe rolls the ball for a kicker during a kickball game. Allen's team, "SoDiva" won that game against the "Mighty Kickers."

Here goes nothing! Frank Perez prepares for a fun-filled ride down the giant slide. Baby oil was used to make it faster and more fun.

Humph! Andy Graycheck throws himself in front of a speeding ball. Players took one for the team because it was "all fun and games."

Going for the Gold

Get set, go! Micah Pherson and Uchenna Nwosu try to finish first in the race. This showed that each individual contributed to the team's overall success.

Service! Kyle Yawn shows off his tennis form during his event. This gave him a chance to present his accuracy and his athletic ability to his class.

My arms are going to fall off! Seventh and eighth graders compete with each other at Cavalier games. Mrs. Carlson's homeroom was later defeated by Mrs. Hatcher's Can't catch me! Natalie Dismuke turns on the jets to put her homeroom ahead. She showed speed and determination in order for her team to receive the shortest time.

Attention, attention! Sister Rosina stands at the podium to address everyone at Grandparents' Day. She showed her appreciation for all who attended and those who were involved.

Let's chit-chat. Katie Beall talks about the day's events with her mother. Earlier, the entire eighth grade class sang to celebrate the occasion.

The apple of my eye. Logan Emerick takes some time out to talk to his grandmother. The program's patriotic theme was a great topic of discussion.

It's showtime. Stuart Ogilvie plays his guitar for his classmates and their visitors. The crowd enjoyed the hit song, "Good Riddance" by Green Day.

Pleasure to serve you! Corinne Booth makes Katie Beall a hot chocolate before school. Students were glad to buy a hot drink on a cold, winter day.

Behind the scenes. Carly McCallie, Amanda Dempsey, and Emily Heenan decorate for the dance. With all of Student Council's hard work, middle school socials were fun for everyone.

Calling all artists. Student Council members work on Homecoming decorations. They had a great responsibility to take on with a strict time commitment during Homecoming Week.

How may I help you? Franklin Smith anxiously awaits Catherine Leverett's purchase from the Kris Kringle Shop. Students enjoyed playing "Santa" and buying gifts for their friends.

Vote for me! Adam Smith tries to persuade the freshmen class to elect him to Student Council. This event gave students a chance to practice speaking in front of their peers.

Help us help others. Jessica Freeman, Ashley Harrison, and Patrick Heenan collect money for Afghan children. Everyone at this parent lunch was more than willing to help a good cause.

Stringing the Lights

This table needs something... Michael Clowers tries to decide what needs to be added to the tables. Adding extra touches was necessary to make the prom's setup complete.

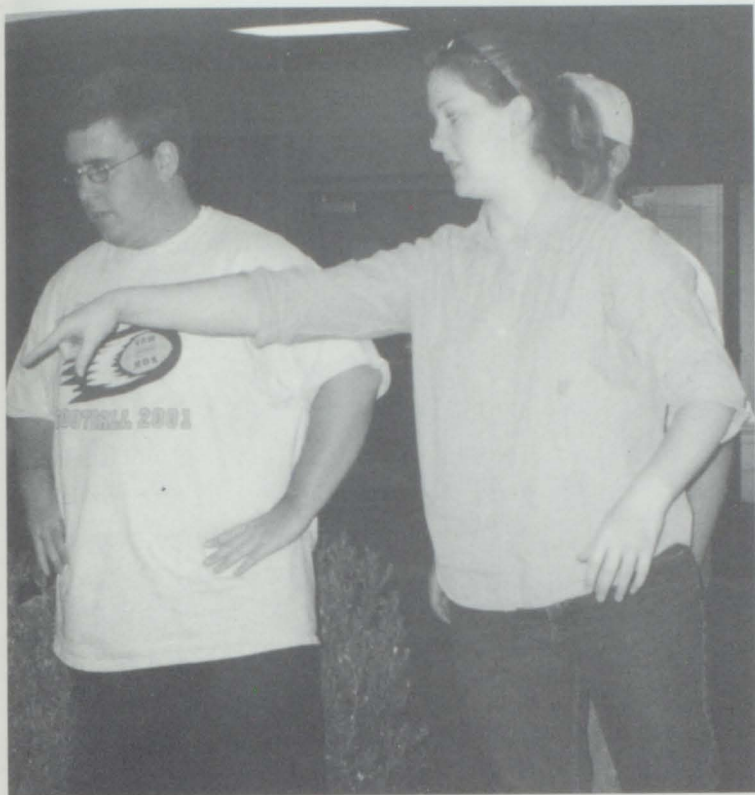

Where does this go? Sarah Dessart lays down the tablecloth on the tables around the dance floor. The tables completed the prom's elegant motif.

A little to the left. A group of juniors makes last minute date wall adjustments. Attention to detail made this one of the prettiest proms in recent memory.

It goes over there! Katie Blackburn and John Michael Cunard plan where the plants need to be placed. Everything needed to be just right to set the mood for the night.

What did you do to create a starry night?

Valkyrie Anderson

"I brought ivy to hang on the archway where the Seniors walked."

John-David Pinkston

"I strung the lights across the plants that decorated the leadout ramp. It was hard work but it was easier because everybody helped."

I can't reach that far! Kristen Lidstone struggles to pull the date wall's drape across the wall. The backdrop held lights to give the atmosphere of a starry night.

Construction underway! Jenna Schmitt and Sam Meadows construct the bridge for the Senior Leadout. Duct tape was essential to hold up the props during the night.

A Starry Night

Boogie nights. Prom attenders dance their worries away. Students enjoyed spending time relaxing and dancing in a fun, prom atmosphere.

In the spotlight. Kristen Croom and Ben Pierce smile for the audience as they walk across the stage. Many of the senior's families and friends came to show support and take pictures.

Dance fever. The Junior/Senior prom kicks off in style as the students gathered on the dance floor. The music consisted of a variety of artists.

Dancing the night away. This group of students gets down at the prom. The prom was a time to dress up and have fun with your friends.

Picture perfect. Amy Laughter and Audra George smile for a picture at the prom. Prom was a time to show off your good looks in front of the camera.

Punch line. Terence Heenan grabs a drink to cool off from dancing with his date. Refreshments were a great part of the prom festivities.

Arm in arm. Andy Graycheck escorts Jennifer Leverett during senior leadout. Each student, along with their date, was announced to the crowd by Mr. Smith.

Taking a break. Prom goers take time away from their dates to laugh with their buddies. This was just one of the many things students did for entertainment.

Score Card

Another round is complete. As we look back on the game we have just played, we may notice pitfalls and detours along the way: late nights spent studying, teachers and tests that were "too hard," and feelings of being overwhelmed. These are merely spaces on the board, however, that provide alternate routes to the same goal of success.

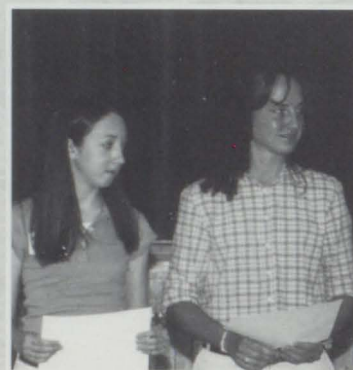

The game has not been all drudgery, however. It has been filled with moments of surprise and excitement. We have come to look forward to the strange twists and turns, the unexpected event just around the bend. We could not have foreseen the quickness with which this school year began and ended, or the snowfall that prolonged our winter break. Nor did we expect the construction of a Performing Arts Center that will provide us with a grand building to showcase our myriad of talents. We know, however, that the game will continue. We have learned merely from playing it. These are lessons that we will take with us to the next challenge, lessons that will help us to play future games and hopefully taste victory.
